Comments: 51.124; Classification: 4.7/5 You have a Base64 string and do not know how to convert it to PDF using JavaScript? Don't worry! I'm here to help you. I will show some practical examples like decoding Base64 for PDF using the atb function and get some information about it. Hello. © In addition, I will show you how to incorporate PDF into the HTML page and create a link to download the PDF. The Base64 string of a simple PDF file var b64 = // Decode Base64 to bin and show some information about PDF file (note that I skipped all checks) var bin= atob(b64); console. log('PDF version:', bin.match(/PDF-([0-9.]+/) [1]); console. log('Create Date:', bin.match(/(+) /) [1]); console. log('Modify Date:', bin.match(/(+) /) [1]); console. log('Creative Tool:', bin.match(/(+) /) [1]); // You incorporated the PDF into the HTML page and showed it to the user document to var obj= . createElement('object'); Yay. Style. width =100%; Yay. Style. height="842pt"; Yay. Type="application/pdf"; Yay. Data="Data:Application/pdf; base64,+b64; Document. body. Appendice (obj); // Insert a link that allows the user to download the PDF document var link= . createElement('a'); link. innerHTML="Download PDF file"; link. download="pdf file; href stream="Data Application/octet; base64,+b64; License. body. Appendice(link); By the way, hello © m from . you can use or to embed PDF files. In all cases, if the browser does not support the incorporation of PDF, it will ask the user to download it. Yeah.
